CoB-KIBM Scholars will be conducting research full-time this upcoming Summer 2021. Scholars were selected due to their demonstrated financial need and clearly articulated excitement for neuroscience research, in addition to a holistic evaluation of just how much they would benefit from having a competitive research position under their belt as they prepare to apply to graduate programs. This is a diverse cohort of fellows across several dimensions, from research interests to life backgrounds, and we believe that our program will be a much-needed springboard towards future research opportunities in the Fall and beyond.
